THE MINISTER OF STATE IN THE MINISTRY OF HOME AFFAIRS (SHRI S. REGUPATHY): (a)The Provisions of the Domestic Violence Act, 2005 are considered to be adequate to address the problem of domestic violence against women. However, there is a need to create awareness on this Act among the general public and also to sensitize the Judiciary, the Police and Civil administration, which would be a continuous process.

(b) The review and amendment of Criminal Laws (including Criminal Procedure Code) is a continuous process. The Code of Criminal (Amendment) Act, 2005 is a recent amendment which, inter alia, has a few provisions relating to Justice for women.

(c) The Indian Penal Code, 1860 is on the Concurrent List of the Constitution of India. Both the Parliament and the State Legislature amend the Code. However record of exact number of amendments from the year 1860 till date is not available in this Ministry.
